Building community through open dialogue

Eating for Tomorrow

A documentary that explores the challenges and solutions to the global food system

Few challenges are more daunting than feeding a global population projected to reach 9.7 billion in 2050—at a time when climate change is making it increasingly difficult to successfully grow crops. Eating for Tomorrow highlights the work of leaders in agriculture, healthcare, and education who are working to create a more just and resilient food system. It also shows how individuals can take action in their daily lives to be part of the change.

“This is the film future generations will be wishing everyone watched today.” Leonard DiCaprio

Featuring Kate Winslet, Sir Richard Branson, Tony Robbins, indigenous elders and some of the world’s leading environmental experts, the film is presented by SMUUF Food Healers.

Food Healers focus on feeding healthy, plant-based vegan food to ALL as a basic human right. Food healing is a practice that involves whole foods to support the body’s natural healing process. It is a key element in the many facets of climate healing the earth.

Plant-based sandwiches and vegan pastry will be provided by Food Healers volunteers. The 90-minute film will be followed by 30 minutes of group discussion.
